SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT No. 1 (Blanchard).

Summer term taught by Miss Lottie A. Eastman. Our visit at the first of the term found each scholar earnestly at work. Miss Eastman seemed very zealous in the service for which she is naturally adapted. The examination showed that teacher and pupils had labored hard during the term, as there was a marked proficiency in some of the studies.

Winter term taught by Miss Anna M. Wheeler, of Loudon. One visit to the school showed Miss Wheeler was sustaining her former high reputation as a teacher. The scholars seemed interested, and the school was all that could be expected.

DISTRICT No. 2 (West Road).

Both terms taught by Miss Myra J. Ayers. The teacher worked earnestly for her scholars, and, being in harmony with them, the school was all that could be expected.

DISTRICT No. 3 (Borough).

Miss Anna E. Sanborn, teacher both terms. The school was all we could expect or desire. Good order and thoroughness were manifest in every branch taught. The respect which the scholars had for the teacher was very pleasant and commendable.

DISTRICT No. 4 (Baptist).

Summer term taught by Miss Abbie A. Brown, of Chichester. The teacher worked earnestly to interest and instruct her pupils, and great improvement was manifested, especially by the little ones, at the close of the term. Miss Brown had reason to be proud of her youngest class, which did honor to themselves and to her.

Winter term, which is now in session, is being taught by Miss Addie West, of Chichester. The school appears finely, and we have reason to think it will be a success.

DISTRICT No. 5 (Hackleborough).

Summer term taught by Miss Louise M. Pickard. The teacher worked hard, and succeeded in interesting her scholars, which insured success. The scholars showed work on their part, giving their answers promptly, and, as a rule, correctly. The order, fair at first, improved to excellent.

Winter term taught by Miss Martha J. Foster, who fully sustained her former high reputation as a teacher. The district may well be proud of its schools; and if it continues to be as fortunate in teachers as this year, will still be one of our best.

DISTRICT No. 6 (Hill's Corner).

Summer term taught by Miss Hattie A. Drake, of New Hampton. Miss Drake, as a governess, was not equal to her task; hence the school was a failure, as no school can prosper without good order. The teacher remarked in her register that "the scholars soon got beyond her control." This school needs a teacher of much care and decision of character.

Winter term taught by Miss Emma J. Jones, who is naturally a teacher. Here she had a good field for practice. She won the affections of her pupils, and excited their energies, and the result was a very successful term.

DISTRICT No. 7 (Centre).

Had three terms, all taught by Miss Cynthia E. Mathes, an experienced and successful teacher. Good order and thorough scholarship characterized each term. This school is attaining a higher order of discipline and excellence.

DISTRICT No. 8 (Shakers).

The first term was taught by Flora Williams, and the second by Elizabeth Martin. We have no hesitancy in saying the teachers devoted all their time to the best interests of the pupils. The progress in the several branches of education was very commendable.

DISTRICT No. 9 (Ingalls).

Both terms were taught by Miss Mary A. Sleeper. The teacher was deeply interested in her work, and the pupils manifested a corresponding zeal. The exercises were conducted in a very gentle and pleasant manner, and evinced commendable progress.

DISTRICT No. 10 (Depot).

Summer term taught by Miss Clara B. Ford. Miss Ford entered upon her duties with a determination to do her best. There had previously been a lack of discipline and thoroughness in this school. Miss Ford adopted strict rules, and soon had her pupils under good subjection. They were thoroughly drilled, and showed a marked improvement.

Winter term taught by Miss Mary E. Fellows, a graduate of the Concord High School. She labored hard, and the rapid improvement, as evinced at the closing examination, showed her work had not been in vain.

DISTRICT No. 11 (Upper Intervale).

Summer term taught by Miss Electa M. Dow. The order was very good. The scholars seemed interested in their studies, and good improvement was visible.

Fall term, taught by Miss Sarah M. Colby, who sustains a high reputation as a teacher, was a success. The order was good, the answers given promptly, and much interest evinced by the scholars. The report of the teacher shows a remarkably good attendance, there being ten out of sixteen scholars that had no mark against their names.

Winter term taught by Miss Clara R. Thorpe. Great improvement could not be expected in a term of scarcely five weeks, yet it seemed that all was done that could be in so brief a time. The order at the closing examination was perfect.

DISTRICT No. 12 (Carter).

One term taught by Miss Sarah E. Wiggin, who sustained her former reputation as a teacher. Miss Wiggin remarks in her register,—“I have labored hard for the improvement of my scholars, and they have appreciated my efforts, and given me their respect and hearty coöperation.”

GENERAL REMARKS.

Fellow Citizens :

As chairman of your superintending school committee I have the pleasure of submitting to you the accompanying report, and would add a few explanatory and suggestive remarks. I can well congratulate you on the success of your schools the past year: There have been but few hindrances to progress, and those mostly from sickness, in which No. 12 shared slightly, Nos. 6 and 5 so much so that suspension became necessary. In No. 6 you will see that the summer term was reported a failure. There was not an adaptation of teacher to scholars and parents. The teacher had been very successful elsewhere, and other teachers have succeeded well here.

The citizens of this district are not wanting so much in interest as in union. To make this and all our schools what they should be, we must lay aside all our personal animosities, feuds, and whisperings, and work for the good of our respective schools; and if we must be revenged for personal injuries and to feed our jealousies, pray let us do it personally, so as not to injure the innocent with the real or supposed guilty.

Your school-houses are in a tolerably good condition, but some need repairs. Nearly all need to be better guarded from the hand of the spoiler. More apparatus is needed, such as globes, clocks, thermometers, square and cube blocks, and blackboards; also, Webster's Unabridged Dictionaries, large maps of our state and the United States, with outline maps, charts, &c.

Visit your schools often; it will have a good influence on them. If you see or know any faults in relation to your school, in the utmost kindness communicate them to your prudential committee, or teacher, or both, and seek a correction quietly.

Be sure that your children spend most of their evenings at home in time of school, and that their school studies have quite a share of that time, and that will add about one third to the benefit of the school, and also add materially to their moral character, which is a matter of the utmost importance; for a well educated person can do more mischief than two who are not.

I have omitted the usual statistical table from your printed report, as being of little interest to many, and any wishing to consult one can call at the office of the town-clerk and do so. Also, have omitted the roll of honor as being of little use, as a poor scholar would be just as likely to be in time for play as a good one for school; and many are hindered by travelling, or other circumstances beyond their will or control. Were I able to give a true roll of honor to such as would try the hardest, however they might succeed, I would most gladly do so.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

EDWARD OSGOOD,

Chairman Superintending School Committee.

Canterbury, Feb. 20, 1875.
